Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Address Before the Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago: Saturday, June Second, 1917 I would like you to bear with me while I have a conversation with you about the subject that now seriously concerns your land and the world. How strange, that here in this little assembly, we should on this day be forced to make allusion to those. Things which, by the prayers the women send to God and the hopes of men, expressed the life dream of all civilization in America, we prayed deliverance from war! But, alas! It was not decreed that we should realize our hope. You will remember when the king's valet seats himself for a moment, and calls in Richard and says to the knight - Sit down; come let us sit-down and tell the sad story of the death of kings; how some have died; how some have been poisoned in their beds, and others pass with their crowns crumbling - all murdered by the times! To which the knight says to the valet, And our house, good servant? And he responds, Alas, oh God, it is also in times!
