Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from An Address Delivered in the Old South Meeting-House in Boston, November 27, 1895: Before the Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; In Commemoration of the Six Hundredth Anniversary of the First Summoning of Citizens and Burgesses to the Parliament of England; Wherein the History of the House of Commons Is Sketc Mr. Governor and Members of the Society, Ladies and Gentlemen: I have not felt at liberty, even under the stress of exacting and unremitting public duties, to decline the honor of your invitation to discourse, on this occasion and within these hallowed walls, upon the great theme which you have proposed. I am the less reluctant to gratify you because the subject - never to my knowledge heretofore publicly discussed in New England - is one upon which my special studies for many years, if they do not qualify me to speak with authority, justify me in holding opinions which, though in some respects they may differ from the general sentiment, may, I trust, enable you to correct some erroneous views, assist in your efforts to penetrate obscurities which shroud the history of Saxo-Norman legislation, and present in a new light data serviceable for accurately comparing the excellencies and defects of the English and American legislative systems. The lineal relation borne by our Anglo-American legislatures to the English Parliament, or, as it now exists, the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, renders the study of its organization and development not only deeply interesting to us Americans, but profitable in proportion to the degree of thoroughness with which the study is pursued. The field, however, is so vast,...
