Not illustrated. 1893 Excerpt: .It is a little troublesome at times to hold the points of gutta percha in the forceps in the suitable position; but if the points of the latter are slightly warmed, the gutta percha adheres to them, and can be easily carried to any situation. The canals being filled, the remainder of the pulp chamber should be filled with osteoplastics; for the reason that if anything goes amiss with the filling in the cavity, the osteoplastics will protect the gutta percha in the canals, and prevent it becoming septic. Canals filled with gutta percha answer admirably, and it is found quite easy to get it to the apex. The only argument of any weight urged against its use is that it is liable to become septic; but if the canals are cleansed properly and filled, it is difficult to see how the sepsis is brought about....
